Communist Troop Trains On Move

BERLIN (UPI) — East German Communist police Sunday night fired at 12 men and women in two separate border incidents and captured 10 of them, West Berlin police said.

Four of the men were West Berliners who had slipped across the border to smuggle their East German girl friends to the West, police were informed. All four couples were arrested by the Communists.

The other four persons also were West Berliners who had been talking to Communist border guards across the barbed wire barrier. The guards suddenly opened fire on the Westerners with their machine pistols. Two escaped and two fell into the hands of the Communists.

The two who eluded the Communists told West Berlin police they heard cries indicating their friends had been hit. A Western radio patrol car toured the desolate border area later and reported to headquarters that the men had been arrested.

Some of the shots fired at the four couples entered American sector territory, but no West Berliners were injured police said.

The incidents followed the delaying of the Munich-West Berlin passenger train by 6½ hours by Communist troop trains. Travelers said their train was sidetracked frequently to permit trains packed with Soviet and East German soldiers to pass.

Two Men Perish In Connellsville Diner Blast-Fire

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa. (AP) — An explosion and fire destroyed a roadside diner Sunday, fatally burning two Connellsville men.

Firemen found the body of Frank O. Myers, 30, inside the diner following the explosion-fire about 2:30 a.m.

Paul Hart, 23, died 10 hours later in the Connellsville State Hospital.

Known as the Sun-Do Restaurant, the diner was located off Pennsylvania 119 about one mile north of this southwestern Pennsylvania city. It was owned by Mr. and Mrs. Harold J. Walk.

Mrs. Walk told police she closed the diner at midnight Saturday and went home.

State Police opened an investigation in an effort to learn why Myers and Hart were at the restaurant. The cause of the blast also was being probed.

GOP Head Says Nixon Couldn't Say No To Draft

NEW YORK (AP) — Republican National Chairman William E. Miller said Sunday he thinks former Vice President Richard M. Nixon "would have to succumb to the draft" if the people called on him to run for president again in 1964.

Referring to Nixon's announced intention to serve a full four-year term if he is elected governor of California next year, Miller said: "Regardless of any statement made as to his availability or unavailability, I would think he would be a serious contender as far as our delegates are concerned to our convention in 1964."

Miller discussed GOP presidential possibilities for 1964 on a non-network program—"Youth Wants to Know."

In addition to Nixon he mentioned Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller of New York, Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, Gov. Robert E. Smylie of Idaho, Gov. Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon and "a whole new batch" of House and Senate members and governors he said the party expects to elect in 1962.

Bonn Envoy Says Berlin Talks Failed

Results Of Kennedy, Gromyko Meet Seen As Step Backward

WASHINGTON (AP) — West German Ambassador Wilhelm Grewe said Sunday the results of the talks between President Kennedy and Andrei A. Gromyko on the Berlin crisis are a step backward.

Grewe said he sees no practical basis for further meetings or negotiations. It will be necessary to find out if the basis for a Berlin settlement exists, he said, adding, "Up to now I don't see it."

Grewe's evaluation was not an optimistic one. He said he agrees with reports that President Kennedy felt the Soviet Union wants to trade "an apple for an orange" in its proposed settlement of the Berlin issue.

Grewe gave his views in a television interview (ABC-Issues and Answers).

Kennedy's evaluation was reportedly made in his discussion with Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko here last Friday. They clinched a series of exploratory talks between Gromyko and Secretary of State Dean Rusk in New York. The talks were aimed at finding acceptable grounds for opening negotiations.

Grewe said the Soviet objective is to eliminate Berlin as an outpost of Western democracy.

"The Communists certainly want to incorporate and annex Berlin, the whole of Berlin," he said. "Once they have it they may have the symbol of German unity, of German reunification in their hands."

"I think then the next stage would be Communist domination," he said.

Grewe said his government is not unalterably opposed to any change in Berlin but is concerned about talk of concessions. "The basis of our whole existence is confidence in the Western allies," he said. "There have been some very alarming discussions in the Western press about Western concessions on nonvital interests but questions which are not negotiable."

Grewe listed these things as falling in this category:

Military ties between West Berlin and the West; the conditions of Germany's entrance into the North Atlantic Treaty Organization; conditions established for unification of Germany; rejection of the present German frontiers, and the whole setup of the Western defense system.

Simkin said in both cases he had "just a general discussion" of the problems involved in the strike. He said he "just wanted to know how things are going."

Boys Find Body Of Man In Truck

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four boys found the blood-soaked body of a Maryland man wedged among paper cartons and old tires in the back of a parked panel truck Sunday.

Police identified the dead man, apparently shot through the heart, as Fred W. Roberts, 29, West Hyattsville, Md.

The Secret Service said a man of the same name, age and address was due for trial on federal counterfeiting conspiracy charge in Baltimore Oct. 30.

The white, unmarked panel truck was parked in a warehouse district. Police said Roberts may not have been shot in the truck, which was registered in his name.

HIN HEUP, Laos (AP) — The big three Laotian princes have chosen Prince Souvanna Phouma, an urban neutralist backed by the Communist bloc, for the premiership in a proposed coalition government of strife-torn Laos. He had been the top candidate all along.

Souvanna emerged Sunday from the negotiations tent on the bridge at Hin Heup to announce the decision. He was flanked by the others—his half-brother Prince Souphanouvong, of the pro-Communist Pathet Lao, and Prince Boun Oum, premier of the current pro-Western government.

Subject to the assent of King Savang Vathana, regarded as a formality, Souvanna, 60, will take over again the job of chief of government that he vacated under rightist fire last December. He has never ceased to claim he is the only legal premier of Laos.

May See King Tuesday

The French-schooled prince, who gives the impression of a Paris boulevardier, is expected to have an audience with the king Tuesday at Luang Prabang, the royal capital.

The choice was made at the second meeting of the princes in this village on the cease-fire line 50 miles north of Vientiane, the administrative capital.

It came 24 hours after Prince Norodom Sihanouk of neighboring Cambodia, a mediator who helped to promote the 14-nation Geneva conference on Laos last summer, said he was very pessimistic about the chances for neutrality in Laos.

A neutralist himself, Sihanouk told a news conference in Tokyo he believed a government headed by Souvanna would mean a move toward communism in Laos, adding: "The process of communization will come step by step—like cancer."

Hard Bargaining Remains

Still to be decided is the exact distribution of seats in a 16-member Cabinet among the three factions, and possibly other political parties. Souvanna said a committee representing the princes would meet again Monday "to discuss matters of detail."

While the details will involve hard bargaining, informed sources said the nomination of a new premier has very considerably diminished the threat of a renewal of the fighting, in which a cease-fire was officially proclaimed last May 3.

The neutralists and Pathet Lao claimed Saturday that an agreement had been reached that eight Cabinet seats should go to Souvanna, four to Boun Oum and four Souphanouvong.

A Vientiane spokesman, however, said, "our agreement carries with it certain reservations," notably that the three groups should be designated not by the names of the princes but as neutralist, leftist and rightist.

Hoffa Issue Tops AFL-CIO Agenda

NEW YORK (UPI) — The 29-member executive council of the AFL-CIO meets Monday to tackle national labor union problems, topped by the question of what to do about James L. Hoffa and his giant Teamster's union.

There are pressures within the AFL-CIO on President George Meany both for re-admission of the Teamsters—booted out in 1957 on charges of corrupt domination—and also for establishment of a rival Teamsters' union within the AFL-CIO.

The latter course could touch off a full-scale labor war with Hoffa's union, which, with 1.7 million members, is bigger than any of the individual unions within the AFL-CIO.

Ortiz, 16 Other Foes Of De Gaulle Seized

Algeria Revolt Leader Arrested In Spain

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Spanish security police have seized Joseph Ortiz and 16 other exiled French foes of President Charles de Gaulle's Algerian policy, official sources said Sunday. The politicians and former French army officers were netted in raids Saturday.

The men probably will be freed if they give assurances that they will not engage in political activity from Spanish soil, but kept under strict surveillance, the informants said.

They may be warned they could face deportation to France as undesirable.

Ortiz was a cafe owner who led the abortive Algiers "revolt of the barricades" in January 1960. Never captured by the French, he was condemned to death in absentia by a military court in Paris last March 2 on a charge of homicide.

Brandt said he will hold a news conference Monday on matters that "cannot yet be publicly discussed." He said he will also report to the West German government in Bonn on what he has learned of the Soviet-American negotiations.

"My conversations convinced me that the government and people of the United States are fully determined that Berlin shall remain free, that we can rely on this, and whoever underestimates the determination of the United States is playing with fire," Brandt said.

An American visitor to Berlin, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., predicted West Germany will emerge from the present crisis with its freedom "not only guaranteed but strengthened."

Here for two days of talks with Brandt and President Kennedy's personal representative, Gen. Luis D. Clay, Humphrey declared the U.S. position on the Communist-encircled city is one of strength and firmness and full cooperation with the Western Allies and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

In the wake of latest incidents along the tense city border, three West Berliners kidnapped by Communists police were back in the Western sector Sunday.

Communist police captured them and a fourth West Berliner Saturday. Three were released after 10 hours detention. The fourth man, shot and wounded, had been dragged off in handcuffs.

West Berlin police said they were seized when they walked up to a barbed wire fence placed a little beyond the actual border line in East Berlin territory.

Birds, When Few, 'Cute'; Now They Have 500,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — Birds are strictly for the birds, says ex-bird lover John Skillman.

Skillman, a Commerce Department employee who owns a 250-acre farm near Potomac, Md., is up to his craw in them. Half a million by estimate of the Interior Department's fish and wildlife experts.

He and his wife moved to the farm 10 years ago to escape the hurly-burly of city living. Life was indeed peaceful then in the countryside.

About five years ago, Mrs. Skillman recalls, she first noticed a flock of starlings moving into a 22-acre thicket near the entrance to their retreat. A bird lover herself, she thought they were "cute."

In the years that followed the starlings were joined by clack-birds, grackles, cowbirds and other species. Soon the Skillmans were host to 500,000 feathered friends, including most of the starling population with a 40-mile radius of Washington.

These statistics were communicated to them by agents of the Fish and Wildlife Service who were checking up to determine if large numbers of birds might interfere with jet planes at the new Dulles International Airport across the Potomac River in Virginia.

The federal agents cheerily reported that as long as the starlings roosted at Skillman's farm there was no danger to the airport. He was assured he could keep his birds.

Skillman on the other hand told the agents he would be glad to deprive himself of the birds if they would only tell him how. The experts had no answer. Nothing bothers starlings, they said.

So, with philosophical resignation, the Skillmans set up chairs on their patio and used the birds as a conversation piece.

Skillman says his conversation has become strongly antibird. Mrs. Skillman, however, likes to compare the birds to government employees, struggling out to work each dawn and back at dusk.

As she sees it the birds are conscientiously devoted to making a living. They use the farm only for sleeping purposes. The rush hour is 6:30 p.m. when they descend by the thousands, gossiping constantly about the day's happenings.

The groups that are late in arriving Mrs. Skillman calls "the embassy crowd." And friends who drop over to watch are gravely informed the last few stragglers "stayed downtown for cocktails."

Skillman has thought of bulldozing down the thicket and turning it into a pasture. He says he may do it yet this winter.

Poison Deaths Still Mystery

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — Investigators have abandoned the possibility that two University of North Carolina students accidentally took the cyanide poison which killed them.

"It was either double murder, a suicide pact or murder-suicide," said Police Chief W. D. Blake Sunday.

"If we can locate the source of the poison I believe we'll be a long way toward clearing up the mystery," Blake added.

The bodies of James Michael Barham, 20, of Burlington and his roommate, William Harrison Johnson Jr., 24, of Statesville, were found in beds Friday in their dormitory room.

A six-man coroner's jury ruled Saturday that the deaths resulted from cyanide poisoning.

Two milk shake cups found in the room were turned over to pathologists for tests to determine whether they contained the deadly poison. Results of the tests were expected Monday afternoon, Blake said.

Some food found in the room also is being tested, Blake reported.

Barham and Johnson worked as self-help students in Lenoir Hall. Their bodies were found after they failed to report for work Friday morning. The room showed no signs of violence.

Nerves Play Hob With Wedding

BOURNEMOUTH, ENGLAND (AP) — The bridegroom was so nervous he fell in a faint on the altar steps.

No sooner was he on his feet again, supported by the bride, than the best man slumped down, hitting his head as he fell.

Then a choir boy went down in midanthem. A bridesmaid collapsed in the aisle.

The Rev. William Stedmond staunchly carried on with the service, although interrupted four more times as other guests were carried out.

Finally the bridegroom, Alan Farwell, was declared married to Gillian Seare, 23.

Said one of the guests after Saturday's wedding in the Holdenhurst, Hampshire, parish church: "The church looked like a battlefield."

Said the vicar: "The church wasn't overheated. It was just sheer nerves."

Anti-Discrimination Conference Today

ABERDEEN, Md. (AP) — The State Department will sponsor a second meeting of businessmen and civic leaders at Aberdeen Proving Grounds Monday, in its campaign to end the color bar in Maryland restaurants and hotels.

The meeting is scheduled for noon. Among those invited were restaurant and hotel owners whose establishments are along U. S. 40 in Harford and Cecil counties. Others attending will be clergymen and civic leaders, a State Department representative, and representatives of several anti-discrimination groups.

The State Department contends that the frequent incidents along the Maryland leg of U. S. 40 in which African diplomats have been refused service have hurt U. S. prestige abroad.

Various civic groups and legislators are backing a proposed state law making equal accommodations at restaurants and hotels mandatory.

Red Tests Pass "Safety Limit"

WASHINGTON (AP) — Atomic scientist Ralph E. Lapp expressed the opinion Sunday that the Soviet nuclear tests already have exceeded the "safe annual limit" of fallout danger.

Interviewed on a recorded radio program, Lapp said: "They have, according to the latest count, sent up over 10 megatons of weapons. I don't know precisely how much of this would be dirty, but this, in my opinion, exceeds the safe level that a number of scientists, some of them from the Atomic Energy Commission, agreed upon as a safe level back in 1957 when we didn't know about the different kind of fallout from Russian tests."

"It turns out," he added, "that Russian tests dump their debris back to the earth sooner than the American tests in the Pacific, and therefore, we find out on the actual base of measurements that you get 10 times as much radiation dose from these arctic tests in Russia as you do from American tests in the Pacific."

Two Rebel units, both from Virginia, took top point honors among the units participating. The other units among the top five scorers were two from New Jersey and a third Virginia company.

Musketmen Finish Ahead Of M-14 Riflemen In Shoot

FORT MEADE, Md. (AP) — An Army spokesman noted that the muskets had given a handicap, and that soft lead balls are better able to smash clay pigeons than modern bullets, which often go through targets without shattering them.

About 1,100 musketmen from 96 recreated Civil War units took part in the shooting matches and pageantry. All were dressed in period uniforms. Many of the firing soldiers took first place, the musket-shooting civilians took second and the M-14 soldiers placed last.

Birds, When Few, 'Cute'; Now They Have 500,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — Birds are strictly for the birds, says ex-bird lover John Skillman.

Skillman, a Commerce Department employee who owns a 25-acre farm near Potomac, Md., is up to his craw in them. Half a million by estimate of the Interior Department's fish and wildlife experts.

He and his wife moved to the farm 10 years ago to escape the hurly-burly of city living. Life was indeed peaceful then in the countryside.

About five years ago, Mrs. Skillman recalls, she first noticed a flock of starlings moving into a 22-acre thicket near the entrance to their retreat. A bird lover herself, she thought they were "cute."

In the years that followed the starlings were joined by blackbirds, grackles, cowbirds and other species. Soon the Skillmans were host to 500,000 feathered friends, including most of the starling population within a 40-mile radius of Washington.

These statistics were communicated to them by agents of the Fish and Wildlife Service who were checking up to determine if large numbers of birds might interfere with jet planes at the new Dulles International Airport across the Potomac River in Virginia.

The federal agents cheerfully reported that as long as the starlings roosted at Skillman's farm

Poison Deaths Still Mystery

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP) — Investigators have abandoned the possibility that two University of North Carolina students accidentally took the cyanide poison which killed them.

"It was either double murder, a suicide pact or murder-suicide," said Police Chief W. D. Blake Sunday.

"If we can locate the source of the poison I believe we'll be a long way toward clearing up the mystery," Blake added.

The bodies of James Michael Farwell, 20, of Burlington and his roommate, William Harrison Johnson Jr., 24, of Statesville, were found in beds Friday in their dormitory room.

A six-man coroner's jury ruled Saturday that the deaths resulted from cyanide poisoning.

Two milk shake cups found in the room were turned over to pathologists for tests to determine whether they contained the deadly poison. Results of the tests were expected Monday afternoon, Blake said.

Some food found in the room is being tested, Blake reported.

Barham and Johnson worked as self-help students in Lenoir Hall. Their bodies were found after they failed to report for work Friday morning. The room showed no signs of violence.

The accident happened at Gwynne Falls near the Edmondson Ave. Bridge. Police said the water at the spot is deep, and that the banks of the pool are steep.

Rodney and the bodies of his brother and companion were pulled from the pool by three unidentified men.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Our 17-year-old son turned up at breakfast this morning with a henna rinse. He is a natural blonde and this red hair job makes him look like a freak. His father and I are sick over it.

He told us his girl friend did it just to see how it would work. She liked it and made him promise to leave it that way. He said he didn't think the color of a person's hair was very important.

My first impulse was to go over to the girl's house and tear her blonde hair out by the black roots. My husband said to calm down and write to you for advice. What kind of an idiot girl would do such a thing? Please hurry your reply and tell us what to do.

—JUST FURIOUS

DEAR JUST: And what kind of an idiot boy would allow a girl to tint his hair? Relax folks, a henna rinse will wash out—as you have probably discovered by now.

Make it plain to your son that you'll tolerate no more nonsense and be firm. He needs parental direction.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Please don't tell me I'm a fool. I know this already. Just tell me what to do.

Last week I sprained my ankle on my way home from work. This fellow I've been going with for five years asked me how it happened. When I told him I stepped off the curb wrong he said "You must have been loaded."

He knows good and well that I never touch liquor, in fact his nickname for me is "Blue-Nose." The more I tried to explain the more he insisted I was drunk.

2. Never rub or pull the skin on your face or neck. Your skin and facial muscles can be stretched out of shape by constant pulling. When this happens begin to sag. Instead, always gently pat your face dry after washing and apply all your beauty preparations with delicate motions.

3. Never forget your neck must be regarded as part of your face. It needs the same considerate care.

4. Never fail to get your quota of fresh air and exercise. These provide the natural stimulation of the blood stream that your complexion needs for clearness and color. The gentle massage you give your face when you apply your beauty preparations is another natural stimulant. The natural stimulant is the best.

WHEELING, W. Va. (UPI) — A survey by the Wheeling Area Conference on Community Development shows that at least 22 Ohio Valley industries will increase their payrolls during the next 12 months.

Portugal rules a total of some 807,000 square miles of land in Africa, Asia, and Oceania.

Monsanto Strike At Nitro Ends

NITRO, W. Va. (UPI) — A week-long strike of 475 workers at the Monsanto chemical plant at Nitro ended Sunday afternoon with the ratification of a new two-year contract.

The striking workers, members of the United Mine Workers union district 50 catch-all, voted 194-to-145 to accept the contract which provides a 21-cent package increase.

The first workers returned to their jobs at 7 p.m. EDT. By Monday, the plant will be back to full operation. The workers struck last Sunday morning.

The new contract irons out a dispute over the contracting by Monsanto for maintenance work.

A union spokesman said the new contract calls for the company to use its own employees for the most of its maintenance work with the exception of major or specialized work.

Also added by the planning and zoning unit is a provision that in case of a hillside development, where setback requirements may be impracticable in any respect, the County Planning and Zoning Commission may approve a subdivision plat with different specific setback lines.

Francis A. Kenney, local manager, said last night claimants who would normally receive their benefit checks on Thursday at the Cumberland office will receive them instead on Wednesday.

Persons who report to the Frostburg office on Thursday will receive their benefit checks on Friday instead this week.

Zoning Rule

(Continued From Page 14) district must be designed exclusively for single-family occupancy. Furthermore, it must be erected on a permanent fully-enclosed and finished foundation. It must have a gross floor area in square feet, excluding any additions which were not part of the original manufactured unit, equal to at least 60 per cent of the average gross main floor areas in square feet per dwelling unit of all the existing dwellings within a radius of 1,000 feet, but in no case may the floor area be less than 500 square feet.

Another amendment to the zoning ordinance as recommended by the planning and zoning group was in Section 10 on setback lines. It is specified in this addition that setback requirements do not apply to fences, utility poles, gas regulators and other public utility equipment of a similar nature.

Also added by the planning and zoning unit is a provision that in case of a hillside development, where setback requirements may be impracticable in any respect, the County Planning and Zoning Commission may approve a subdivision plat with different specific setback lines.

Provisions of the zoning ordinance are to be enforced by the county zoning inspector, who also will be the county planning director. C. Lee Renaud came here September 1 from Painesville, Ohio, to assume duties as county planning director.

An emergency clause in the ordinance provides that it shall be in full force and effect immediately after its passage by the county commissioners.

Tawes is questioning whether the money would be used for the central Democratic organization's campaign in general, or used exclusively by Tawes.

Tawes should pay federal and state income taxes on the $260,000 if it is for the governor's exclusive use, Hume said.

Meanwhile, Tawes supporters, who apparently had been notified beforehand of Hume's remarks, issued a statement in which the governor said:

"Mr. Hume, as a lawyer, should know that no such report (of campaign expenses) is required until 20 days after the primary election."

He called Hume's attack "scurilous" and "another one of those below-the-belt" blows which Mr. Hume seems to enjoy."

Tawes said the treasurer for the dinner, Harry Rodger, already had filed a statement with the secretary of state showing proceeds "will be used exclusively for political campaign purposes."

Part of the Tawes-Hume dispute centered on Hume's relationship to his father-in-law, Cyrus S. Eaton, whose liberal political views and wealth have resulted in controversy in the past.

Tawes referred to Hume's relationship with Eaton at the end of his statement, saying, "After all, very few of us have an advantage such as Mr. Hume does in a father-in-law reputed to be worth $50 million."

Hume answered the statement Sunday, calling the reference to his father-in-law a "sly innuendo."

How 45,000 companies help their employees buy security

The average American company is pretty busy tending to its own business. Yet many companies have sandwiched in a valuable service for their employees—the Payroll Savings Plan for U.S. Savings Bonds.

Through this plan, your payroll clerk sets aside a certain amount each payday for Bonds, buys them, and arranges to get them to you. It's completely automatic, and the easiest way in the world to save.

Save as much or as little as you wish

Employees can sign up to save as little as $1.25 a week. The average among the more than 8 million folks on the Plan is $20 a month.

All in all, 45,000 companies help their employees save about $2 billion in Savings Bonds a year—a lot of future homes, vacations, college degrees, and nest eggs for retirement.

The security built into Savings Bonds

U.S. Savings Bonds are guaranteed by the Government to grow. $18.75 becomes $25 in 7 years, 9 months. In 10 more years, it becomes $36.25. Your Bonds can be cashed in anytime, with interest. And if they're lost or destroyed, the Treasury Department replaces them free.

Every Savings Bond you buy is an investment in Peace. What better way to help your government help you enjoy the things you're saving for.

Hats off to American Industry!

"American Industry has given the Savings Bonds Program its greatest success," says William H. Neal, National Director of the Treasury's Savings Bonds Program.

"45,000 American companies have sold many billions of dollars in Savings Bonds—at no cost to the taxpayer," says Mr. Neal. "By operating the Payroll Savings Plan, these companies, big and small, are helping to keep our country strong. At the same time, they're helping more than 8 million people save automatically for the things they want. America owes a vote of thanks to these companies for their outstanding contribution to the 20-year success story of the U.S. Savings Bonds Program."

Sharing Secrets With The Reds

Delegates to an international astronautical conference in Washington have had no trouble agreeing that the world would be a better place if nations would share in the peaceful exploration of space.

The Soviet delegate was exceptionally outspoken on the subject, complaining that present cooperation was far too limited. To make his point, he noted that particularly valuable information should be forthcoming from space systems in communications, weather forecasting and navigation.

By not altogether strange coincidence, these happen to be projects of demonstrated U.S. leadership. What, if anything, the USSR may be doing in these fields is one of Moscow's better kept secrets.

Moscow makes great claims as to Soviet ability to orbit man-carrying vehicles. Nevertheless, anyone outside the Soviet Union has yet to receive information gained from these flights, or even see them being performed.

Thus far, Russia's principal export in the space science field has been the radioactive dust now settling on the earth from its nuclear experiments. This hardly is conducive to the exchange of knowledge.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

A Great Guy

The other day, a childhood friend, Judge Jonah Goldstein, was in my house discussing work scholarships in which the Grand Street Boys Club, of which he is president, is interested. While all the great men are concerning themselves with what is happening in the Congo and Laos and such places, Jonah is concerning himself with what was happening on the block, to the neighbors.

That night his wife died. She had been one of the first women lawyers and a public accountant to boot. It had been her idea that when Judge Goldstein's judgeship reached its term and he had to retire, he should not hang out a shingle and practice law which in a big city like New York could mean getting receiverships and other favors. She preferred that he devote himself to the public benefit. So for 27 years, he has been president of the Grand Street Boys Club and of the Grand Street Boys Foundation which does so much that is worthwhile in an intimate way in a big city.

In a small town, if a bright boy is stuck because his father dies before the boy's education has been sufficient for him to go out into the world, somebody will help. In a big city like New York, where there are 8,000,000 people, it is easy to get lost. Many do get lost.

The principal of a high school may discover a genius but how does he finance his education? The smart boy cannot keep up his marks if he has to work while he goes to school. There is too much homework to do these days, too much concentration is required. The best colleges require very high marks for admission and the boy who is sleepy because he has had to work after school may not get those high marks although a keen teacher knows what the boy really can do if he has a chance.

So, Jonah Goldstein, who worked his way through high school and college, has devised the concept of a work scholarship; that is, the boy works in the school, where he is being taught, clerking for the principal, washing test tubes in the laboratory, putting books back on the library shelf, and so on.

The idea is not altogether new because many of us, who had to work our way through school and college, found such jobs, but this is different. It is so arranged that it does not interfere with the studies. It gives a boy ample time to do his school work under proper supervision. It is not only a matter of bread; in a big city, a young fellow may not have ample clothes and his morale is lowered by comparison with other boys. Or he may find living conditions so awful at home that he cannot do his work there adequately. He may live in an atmosphere of constant quarreling and bickering that he finally throws in the sponge.

The psychologists call this a character defect but Jonah Goldstein and I, who were brought up under unsatisfactory circumstances, know that it can be fatigue rather than character defect, that it can be weariness rather than distress that drives one to defeat. We had seen it as boys. We had seen these forces of evil turn brilliant minds into rackets.

And so Jonah Goldstein is doing something about it. He has the Grand Street Boys Foundation to work with and he finds co-operative high school principals who discover the bright boys and give them a chance by providing proper and supervised work in the school where they study. And if a boy needs a telescope or a slide rule or a suit of clothes the money is found to help him become a person of great value.

This is noble work done in a quiet way. I do not know but this may be the first story written on the subject, because the Grand Street Boys Club does not advertise its good works. Why should it? Most of the members are returning past favors. When I first met Jonah Goldstein, he was a boy managing the game room of the Educational Alliance; I borrowed my first tuition money for Columbia University from a fund in the same Educational Alliance. We both know what a little help at the right time can do if it is gently given.

Ruling Needed On Federal Aid To Education

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—Loud are the laments from different groups throughout the country that Congress failed to provide the billions of dollars advocated by President Kennedy for federal aid to education.

The President is blamed for lack of aggressive leadership or for compromising with opponents or for inept handling of the legislation by his own party. Fact ionalism in Congress itself is blamed for the use of various parliamentary procedures to block passage. The Religious issue is blamed as a disruptive influence. Opponents of federal subsidies are blamed. Also, many who harbored doubts about loading the treasury with an annual commitment for any field as big as education have gladly accepted some of the responsibility for the defeat of the measure.

But the sad fact remains that education in America is in need of more funds—better teachers and better buildings. Whether all the states need federal aid or some of them can do the job themselves may be debated. Because of the varying conditions throughout the country, the average man finds it difficult to get a clear idea of just what ought or ought not be done by the federal government.

The most recent excuse for federal aid is "national defense." What is done in the Soviet Union is being held up constantly as something to be paralleled. Much money is evidently spent there for training engineers and technicians. On the theory that Soviet Russia is a potential enemy, the argument is made by spokesmen for educational organizations that to give a better education to American citizens is somehow wrapped up in "national defense." It's a convenient device in politics. So measures that are designed to help education are put into bills given such names as the national defense education act.

But the trouble with such a broad classification is that it runs into the religious issue. Higher institutions which need laboratories for scientists or scholarships for talented students in economic or scientific fields have been awarded federal money irrespective of whether those same institutions are operated by churches. The Kennedy Administration says this is constitutional.

What is hard to understand, however, is why, if a Catholic boy is supposed subsequently to enlist and defend his country in war, he should be helped in his education at the elementary school level only if he keeps out of a parochial school. He must give up the religious education he wants in order to get the benefits of federal money granted to pub lic elementary schools. This is widely criticized as reducing the doctrine of separation of church and state to an absurdity.

Literally, the constitution says that "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion." Some argue that this means no law should ever be passed that deals with any religious institution in any respect whatsoever. If this be true, then the alibi of national defense is ineffectual and no money can constitutionally be appropriated by Congress for higher institutions or elementary schools or anything else if they have the slightest connection with a church.

But there are some passages in Supreme Court decisions which cast doubt on this doctrine. Each side quotes the passages that seem to support its own view. The truth is that the decisions are not clear. The Supreme Court of the United States has never, for instance, ruled that a federal loan to help a church construct a school building is unconstitutional or that a federal loan covering a mortgage on a home for a Catholic citizen is unconstitutional when he engages a private tutor to come to that same home to teach his children the Catholic religion.

Obviously there is need for a clear-cut ruling by the Supreme Court of the United States which will remove all legal doubt as to whether any federal money can be used, directly or indirectly, for any college, high school or elementary school run by a church or whether federal funds may be used for any and all educational purposes except the actual teaching of a religious creed.

It can certainly decide whether federal money can be withheld from institutions that do teach religion in their school buildings even though the money obtained from the federal government is intended, not for the propagation of any religious belief, but just for such inanimate objects as brick and mortar and perhaps even for physical facilities to insure good health for American children in congested school areas.

If Congress would leave it to the courts to decide the extent to which the teaching of religion bars the use of state or federal funds for a college or high school or elementary school that isn't under public control, then the passage—on its merits—of an all-inclusive bill to foster education in America could be made easier.

Now, it appears, Columbia University may be the first institution of higher education to add Senate bean soup to the menu for its student body. The school will do this, that is, if the Washington D. C. alumni chapter has its way.

At a recent meeting, the chapter ordered its chairman to recommend this addition to the school's menu. So a letter went out to Grayson Kirk, Columbia's president, as follows:

"I am certain that the students will remember your presidency years later by this famous addition to their menu, besides your other excellent service for the students."

We wonder how many educators want to win a niche in the hall of fame via the bean soup route.

WAY OUT ART—The office of the attorney general in the Justice Department Building is one of the most imposing in all of Washington. It is high ceilinged, huge, and is equipped with everything down to a private shower.

Over the years, attorney generals have decorated its walls with various art forms reflecting their individual tastes. Some hung portraits of their predecessors, others color photo enlargements, still others land and seascapes.

The other day, a visitor of Robert F. Kennedy, walked into the sanctum and observed an odd assortment of drawings, scribblings, water colors, etc., hung on the walls with the aid of scotch tape.

"This one," the attorney general explained as he pointed to one of the pictures, "is called 'A Chinaman Looking at His House.' This one," he said of another, "is by Bobby. And this one is by Courtney."

The artist, age 4 to 10, have one thing in common—the last name of Kennedy.

SENATE BEAN SOUP—The

Senate restaurant has won national fame over the years for the most stable item on its vast menu—bean soup. Undoubtedly, the item has been copied far and wide by other restaurants as well as by housewives who have learned how happily their husbands respond to the delicacy.

Now, it appears, Columbia University may be the first institution of higher education to add Senate bean soup to the menu for its student body. The school will do this, that is, if the Washington D. C. alumni chapter has its way.

Examination Advised When Children Snore

something was going on in the nose and throat. Polyps were found in the back of the nose. They had grown large enough to vibrate on nasal respiration every time he fell asleep on his back. These lesions were removed and life will remain peaceful and calm in this family—unless they grow back.

Everyone knows what snoring is and, in most instances, the vibration comes from normal tissues flapping in the breeze. Various surgical procedures have been advocated but the results are inconclusive. The muscles in the tissues that surround the upper throat are more relaxed in some persons during sleep.

When children begin to snore so loud they can be heard next door, examination is suggested. Dr. Albert P. Seltzer of Philadelphia found some of these youngsters have stuck a bean, pea, pencil eraser, or other foreign body into the nose. Others have an elongated uvula that tickles the back of the throat during the day and causes snoring when asleep. But the majority of young ones have enlarged tonsils and adenoids.

A 5 year old boy began to snore like a trooper and was taken to Dr. Seltzer's office by his mother. The tonsils and adenoids were enlarged and surgery was recommended. During the operation a large bean was noted in the crypts of the throat tissue. The child recalled having "lost" the bean in his nose. The boy's snoring brought the situation to light.

"I'm a pushover for a good show myself," confided the driver. "Indeed," approved Sir John. "And have you seen Gielgud's 'Hamlet'?" "Now," said the driver, "I don't happen to care for the name." "Gielgud?" asked Sir John. "Now," said the driver. "Hamlet!"

President Kennedy, McNamara Kept On Waiting List Of Cosmos Club

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The resignation of Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy from the elite and exclusive Metropolitan Club has raised embarrassing questions for various politically minded club members, including some of the White House staff and Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York. Should they resign too?

It has also focused attention on the fact that the Attorney General's elder brother, one John F. Kennedy, has not yet been taken into another Washington club — the Cosmos Club — though he's been on the waiting list for four months.

Unlike the Metropolitan Club, the Cosmos Club does extend guest privileges to Negroes, but it has been in no hurry to admit the President of the United States. The Metropolitan Club, in contrast, immediately extended honorary membership to President Kennedy, though he has not accepted.

Washington sight-seeing guides sometimes get off this crack to tourists: "Over there is the Metropolitan Club whose members have money but no brains. Over there the Cosmos Club, whose members have the brains, but no money. And here is the Army-Navy Club whose members have neither brains nor money."

Whether or not the levity of tourist guides is justified, the name of John F. Kennedy was proposed for membership in the Cosmos Club on June 23, by such committee members point out, is not meant as a slight or snub to these distinguished applicants; but rather that other qualified persons were on the membership list ahead of them.

Another man who is ahead of the President is Carl Rowan, Deputy Assistant Secretary of State, former correspondent for the Minneapolis Star-Journal and the first Negro proposed for Cosmos Club membership. Though the Cosmos Club extends guest privileges to Negroes, it has not yet admitted a Negro member. Rowan, sponsored by Raymond Gram Swing, the commentator, is expected to be the first.

The Germans, of course, are the greatest miscalculators in modern history. When war is imminent, they guess wrong, both as to the enemy's will to fight and their own chances of victory. On a recent trip to Berlin, I was surprised to learn from officials and businessmen that, even though Germany is standing unarmed in the middle of the shooting gallery, she is still willing to risk her wind.

I do not mean to imply that Germany—and this includes the Federal Government at Bonn as well as Willy Brandt's group in Berlin—seeks war. It is simply that they do not believe that the Russians will press the button. They sit over coffee at restaurant tables and they argue that, in thermonuclear war, there can be no winner. Ergo: if there is no winner, then no one will go to war.

Perhaps. Hundreds of millions of prayers wing skyward every day hoping that this reasoning is correct. But we must also acknowledge that, even if war is unavoidable, Communism thrives on chaos and devastation. Democracy does not. When the people lose more than they can bear, they become politically radical.

The one premise made in Berlin to which I subscribe is that the French and British have no heart to face the Russians in a show-down over Berlin. Among the NATO ground forces, morale is lowest in the French First Army, which holds the southern sector.

They have been fighting Germans for too long to want to fight to save Berlin for Adenauer. The British have a fondness for status quo. They would like to remain in Berlin with the U.S. indefinitely, so long as Germany remains divided. A unified Germany, they feel, would make it strong enough to start trouble all over again.

I would like to be complacent, like the Germans. I can't. They couldn't pick the winner in a one-horse race, even if it was fixed...

Sharing Secrets With The Reds

Delegates to an international astronautical conference in Washington have had no trouble agreeing that the world would be a better place if nations would share in the peaceful exploration of space.

The Soviet delegate was exceptionally outspoken on the subject, complaining that present cooperation was far too limited. To make his point, he noted that particularly valuable information should be forthcoming from space systems in communications, weather forecasting and navigation.

By not altogether strange coincidence, these happen to be projects of demonstrated U.S. leadership. What, if anything, the USSR may be doing in these fields is one of Moscow's better kept secrets.

Moscow makes great claims as to Soviet ability to orbit man-carrying vehicles. Nevertheless, anyone outside the Soviet Union has yet to receive information gained from these flights, or even see them being performed.

Thus far, Russia's principal export in the space science field has been the radioactive dust now settling on the earth from its nuclear experiments. This hardly is conducive to the exchange of knowledge.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

A Great Guy

The other day, a childhood friend, Judge Jonah Goldstein, was in my house discussing work scholarships in which the Grand Street Boys Club, of which he is president, is interested. While all the great men are concerning themselves with what is happening in the Congo and Laos and such places, Jonah is concerning himself with what was happening on the block, to the neighbors.

That night his wife died. She had been one of the first women lawyers and a public accountant to boot. It had been her idea that when Judge Goldstein's judgeship reached its terminus and he had to retire, he should not hang out a shingle and practice law in a big city like New York could mean getting relationships and other favors. She preferred that he devote himself to the public benefit. So for 27 years, he has been president of the Grand Street Boys Club and of the Grand Street Boys Foundation which does so much that is worthwhile in an intimate way in a big city.

In a small town, if a bright boy is stuck because his father dies before the boy's education has been sufficient for him to go out into the world, somebody will help. In a big city like New York, where there are 8,000,000 people, it is easy to get lost. Many do get lost.

The principal of a high school may discover a genius but how does he finance his education? The smart boy cannot keep up his marks if he has to work while he goes to school. There is too much homework to do these days, too much concentration is required. The best colleges require very high marks for admission and the boy who is sleepy because he has had to work after school may not get those high marks although a keen teacher knows what the boy really can do if he has a chance.

So, Jonah Goldstein, who worked his way through high school and college, has devised the concept of a work scholarship; that is, the boy works in the school, where he is being taught, clerking for the principal, washing test tubes in the laboratory, putting books back on the library shelf, and so on.

The idea is not altogether new because many of us, who had to work our way through school and college, found such jobs, but this is different. It is so arranged that it does not interfere with the studies. It gives a boy ample time to do his school work under proper supervision. It is not only a matter of bread; in a big city, a young fellow may not have ample clothes and his morale is lowered by comparison with other boys. Or he may find living conditions so awful at home that he cannot do his work there adequately. He may live in an atmosphere of constant quarrelling and bickering that he finally throws in the sponge.

The psychologists call this a character defect but Jonah Goldstein and I, who were brought up under unsatisfactory circumstances, know that it can be fatigue rather than character defect, that it can be weariness rather than distress that drives one to defeat. We had seen it as boys. We had seen these forces of evil turn brilliant minds into rackets.

And so Jonah Goldstein is doing something about it. He has the Grand Street Boys Foundation to work with and he finds co-operative high school principals who discover the bright boys and give them a chance by providing proper and supervised work in the school where they study. And if a boy needs a telescope or a slide rule or a suit of clothes the money is found to help him become a person of great value.

This is noble work done in a quiet way. I do not know but this may be the first story written on the subject, because the Grand Street Boys Club does not advertise its good works. Why should it? Most of the members are returning past favors. When I first met Jonah Goldstein, he was a boy managing the game room of the Educational Alliance; I borrowed my first tuition money for Columbia University from a fund in the same Educational Alliance. We both know what a little help at the right time can do if it is gently given.

'Above All—We're For Democratic Rights'

Ruling Needed On Federal Aid To Education

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON—Loud are the laments from different groups throughout the country that Congress failed to provide the billions of dollars advocated by President Kennedy for federal aid to education. The President is blamed for lack of aggressive leadership or for compromising with opponents or for inept handling of the legislation by his own party. Factionalism in Congress itself is blamed for the use of various parliamentary procedures to block passage. The Religious issue is blamed as a disruptive influence. Opponents of federal subsidies are blamed. Also, many who harbored doubts about loading the treasury with an annual commitment for any field as big as education have gladly accepted the responsibility for the defeat of the measure.

What is hard to understand, however, is why, if a Catholic boy is supposed subsequently to enlist and defend his country in war, he should be helped in his education at the elementary school level only if he keeps out of a parochial school. He must give up the religious education he wants in order to get the benefits of federal money granted to public schools.

The most recent excuse for federal aid is "national defense." What is done in the Soviet Union is being held up constantly as something to be paralleled. Much money is evidently spent there for training engineers and technicians. On the theory that Soviet Russia is a potential enemy, the argument is made by spokesmen for educational organizations that to give a better education to American citizens is somehow wrapped up in "national defense."

It's a convenient device in politics. So measures that are designed to help education are put into bills given such names as the national defense education act.

Over the years, attorney generals have decorated its walls with various art forms reflecting their individual tastes. Some hung portraits of their predecessors, others color photo enlargements, still others land and seascapes.

High on the list of members is President Kennedy's stepfather-in-law, Hugh D. Auchincloss; also Dean Acheson, former Secretary of State; Allen Dulles, retired CIA chief; and Douglas Dillon, present Secretary of the Treasury.

The precedent for resignation in protest against the ban on Negroes might also be embarrassing to several prominent newspapermen, including Scotty Reston of the New York Times; Arthur Krock, also of the Times; Rowland Evans of the New York Herald Tribune, a personal friend of President Kennedy; and Walter Lippmann, dean of the newspaper columnists.

Then there is Eric Johnston, head of the motion picture producers, active in promoting American films in Africa and other areas where the color ban is not popular.

The Metropolitan Club's ban on guest privileges for Negroes might likewise prove embarrassing for Gen. Alfred M. Gruenthal, head of the American Red Cross; to Dan Kimball, former Secretary of the Navy, whose Aerojet Co. is dependent upon the government for important orders; and to Frank Pace, head of General Dynamics, whose company is also heavily dependent upon the government.

These are just a few members of the Metropolitan Club who have been placed on the gridlock by racial discrimination and the resignations of Attorney General Kennedy, Ambassador Duke and George Lodge.

The Germans, of course, are that a nation can bluff itself into an untenable position. War becomes the only solution.

"How can you Berliners feel so complacent," I asked an official of the German Information Service, "when the rest of the world is terrified?" He smiled. He shrugged. "When one is in the eye of the hurricane," he said softly, "one can seldom hear the wind."

It can certainly decide whether federal money can be withheld from institutions that do teach religion in their school buildings even though the money obtained from the federal government is intended, not for the propagation of any religious belief, but just for such inanimate objects as brick and mortar and perhaps even for physical facilities to insure good health for American children in congested school areas.

There is nothing in the rulebook that says members of Congress must possess the legal background of court justices to enable them to resolve constitutional questions before voting for legislation.

From the Berlin Hilton Hotel to the Rathaus, I asked every responsible German I met what he thought of a solution to the crisis. They sit over coffee at restaurant tables and they argue that, in thermonuclear war, there can be no winner. Ergo: if there is no winner, then no one will go to war.

Green Bay Defense Picks Off 6 Passes To Stop Baltimore

By GENE W. HINTZ
GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI) — Green Bay Packer halfback Paul Hornung put on a one-man scoring show and then the Packers' defense turned pass thieves to seal a 45-7 rout of the Baltimore Colts Sunday.

Hornung shattered the Packers' single game scoring record by rolling up 33 points on four touchowns, a field goal and six extra points. He also picked up 111 yards in 11 carries.

Hornung's first score came with the game only two minutes old, when he took a handoff from quarterback Bart Starr, circled left end and romped 54 yards to the end zone. His others came on an eight yard pass from Starr and runs of one and 10 yards. The field goal — a 38 yard boot — came in the second period and gave the Packers a 10-7 lead.

Green Bay's other scores came on a 72-yard punt return by Willie Wood and a three yard run from scrimmage by Jim Taylor.

Defensively, the Packers picked off five passes by Johnny Unitas and one of Lamar McHan's. Jesse Whittenton grabbed two and Wood, Johnny Symank, Dave Hanner and Hank Gremminger one each. Symank now has had an interception in each of the Packers' four games.

fleet-footed Lenny Moore accounted for the only Colt touchdown, going over from the one in the second quarter to tie the score at 7-7. Hornung's field goal, seconds later, and his touchdown before the half put the Colts out of contention.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — San Francisco's shotgun attack blasted the Los Angeles Rams 35-0 Sunday and the 49ers held on to a share of the Western Conference lead in the National Football League.

For the second week Coach Red Hickey rotated his three quarterbacks, sending plays from the bench. And for the first time in their history the 49ers scored shutout victories in two consecutive games.

Quarterbacks John Brodie, Bill Kilmer and Bob Waters all proved effective. Kilmer scored on runs of one and nine yards. Waters scored on a four-yard run and passed 26 yards to R. C. Owens for a touchdown. Brodie's passes contributed to each of the touchdown drives.

Beaver Creek Ties CCC Men's Golf Team, 27-27

Locals Close Out Season With Match

Beaver Creek won the final foursomes of the day and tied the Cumberland Country Club men's golf team, 27-27, yesterday in a team match played on the Beaver Creek Country Club course near Hagerstown.

The tie resulted when Beaver Creek's Dick Mullen and Bob Nichol, Beaver Creek, defeated Cumberland's Dick Buskey and Jerome Ellenson, 3 and 0, in the day's final foursome.

The deadlock kept Cumberland's team unbeaten, but it snapped a 20-match winning streak by the locals who had won their last two matches in 1959, 10 in a row last year and eight straight this season.

Hornung shattered the Packers' single game scoring record by rolling up 33 points on four touchowns, a field goal and six extra points. He also picked up 111 yards in 11 carries.

Packers Wallop Colts, 45-7; Philadelphia Tops Steelers, 21-16

Hornung Gets 33 Points To Pace Victory

Green Bay Defense Picks Off 6 Passes To Stop Baltimore

By GENE W. HINTZ
GREEN BAY, Wis. (UPI) — Green Bay Packer halfback Paul Hornung put on a one-man scoring show and then the Packers' defense turned pass thieves to seal a 45-7 rout of the Baltimore Colts Sunday.

Hornung shattered the Packers' single game scoring record by rolling up 33 points on four touchdowns, a field goal and six extra points. He also picked up 111 yards in 11 carries.

Hornung's first score came with the game only two minutes old, when he took a handoff from quarterback Bart Starr, circled left end and romped 54 yards to the end zone. His others came on an eight yard pass from Starr and runs of one and 10 yards. The field goal — a 38 yard boot — came in the second period and gave the Packers a 10-7 lead.

Green Bay's other scores came on a 72-yard punt return by Willie Wood and a three yard run from scrimmage by Jim Taylor.

Defensively, the Packers picked off five passes by Johnny Unitas and one of Lamar McHan's. Jesse Whittenton grabbed two and Wood, Johnny Symanek, Dave Hanner and Hank Greenmiller one each. Symanek now has had an interception in each of the Packers four games.

Fleet-footed Lenny Moore accounted for the only Colt touchdown, going over from the one in the second quarter to tie the score at 7-7. Hornung's field goal, seconds later, and his touchdown before the half put the Colts out of contention.

San Francisco Belts Rams, 35-0

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — San Francisco's shotgun attack blasted the Los Angeles Rams 35-0 Sunday and the 49ers held on to a share of the Western Conference lead in the National Football League.

For the second week Coach Red Hickey rotated his three quarterbacks, sending plays from the bench. And for the first time in their history the 49ers scored shutout victories in two consecutive games.

Quarterbacks John Brodie, Bill Kilmer and Bob Waters all proved effective. Kilmer scored on runs of one and nine yards. Waters scored on a four-yard run and passed 26 yards to R. C. Owens for a touchdown. Brodie's passes contributed to each of the touch-down drives.

Fair And Warm For Series Today

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI) — The weatherman here forecast fair and warm weather Monday for the fifth game of the World Series.

The forecast called for a temperature of about 83 at game time. No rain was in sight Monday.

For the Reds, Maris flied to Robinson. One run, three hits, no errors, two left.

Reds Fifth

The attendance was exactly the same as Saturday — 32,589. Freese worked the count to 3-2 fouled off two pitches, and then flied to Lopez in short right. Coleman grounded out, Kubek to Skowron. Johnson singled to center, Ford stopping at second. Kubek singled to short center. Ford scoring and Richardson to third. No runs, one hit, no errors, one left.

For Monday's fifth game, the last at Crosley Field and possibly the last of the series, it will be Ralph Terry rematched against Cincinnati's Joey Jay. Jay was the winner of the second game, 6-2, and Terry was the loser.

Mickey Mantle started in center field for the Yanks, although still hobbled by the after-effects of minor surgery for an abscess on his right hip. He grounded out, Colman unassisted and Skowron was trapped off third and put out by Coleman, again unassisted. Coleman raced over from first base and stood on the foul line as Skowron feinted back and forth, and Colman finally tagged him out. Two runs, three hits, one left, no errors.

Reds Sixth

Chacon singled to left. Berra just missed a shoe string catch of the ball. Arroyo and Coates warmed up in the Yankee bullpen. Berra fell down while trying to catch Chacon's hit and suffered a cut over his right eye. He returned to left field after treatment on the plate. Ford was taken out and replaced by Coates. When Ford was taken out, he had pitched 32 scoreless innings of World Series ball. Kasko flied to Berra in medium left. Chacon holding first. Pinson grounded out. Skowron unassisted, Chacon going to second. Robinson was hit by a pitched ball. Post flied to Maris. No runs, one hit, no errors, two left.

Yankees Seventh

Richardson singled to center and went to second as Pinson fumbled the ball for an error. Kubek flied to Post. Richardson holding second. Maris was purposely passed. Richardson went to third and Maris to second on a wild pitch. Lopez singled to center, scoring Richardson and Maris. Lopez went to second on Pinson's fumble throw to the plate. Howard struck out. Berra was purposely passed. Skowron singled to center, scoring Lopez, but Berra was was rapped up for two runs in the sixth and three more in the seventh after replacing O'Toole.

Howard's double to right center started Brosnan's trouble. An intentional walk to Berra and a scratch infield single by Skowron loaded the bases. Clete Boyer picked this moment for his second hit of the series, a long double to the left field corner, scoring both Howard and Berra.

The Reds' first error of the series helped the Yanks get three more in the seventh, putting the game beyond salvage. Richardson singled to center and took second when Vada Pinson let the ball get away from him for an error.

With one out, Maris was intentionally passed, both runners advanced on a wild pitch and Lopez brought them in with his first hit of the series, a single to center.

Another intentional walk, this time to Berra, and Skowron's single through the middle into center, drove home Lopez with the seventh and final run.

Reds Eighth

Lynch batted for Brosnan and struck out. Chacon popped to Richardson. Kubek made a good stop of Kasko's grounder and threw him out. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Yankees Ninth

Henry went in to pitch for Cincinnati. Kubek struck out. Maris also struck out. Lopez flied to Pinson. No runs, no hits, no errors, none left.

Whitey Hurls 32 Innings Without Run

Underdog Reds Now Back 3-1 In Series As O'Toole Beaten

By JACK HAND
CINCINNATI (AP) — Whitey Ford broke Babe Ruth's 43-year-old record by pitching 32 consecutive scoreless innings in World series play but left with an injured foot in the sixth inning Sunday as the New York Yankees nudged Cincinnati one step from elimination with a 7-0 victory in the fourth game.

The defeat left the underdog Reds in desperate straits, trailing 3-1 in this best-of-seven competition. Only three clubs, the last bring the 1958 Yanks against Milwaukee, ever have come back to win after losing three of the first four.

Ford fell down hard while missing a pitch by Jim Brosnan in the Yankee sixth and left the game after Eliot Chacon opened the Cincinnati sixth with a single to left on which Yogi Berra missed a diving catch. It was announced that Ford had injured his foot.

Jim Coates, the "long man" in the bullpen, finished up stylishly, allowing one hit in four innings. Ford had yielded only four singles.

Homer Bats Silent

For a change the Yankee home runs were silent. But they went on their biggest batting splurge of the series with 11 hits on this bright summery afternoon before a sellout crowd of 32,589.

Little Bobby Richardson, a great October hitter, led the attack with a double and two singles, bringing his 1961 series total to eight hits. He was robbed of a ninth on a leaping catch by Chacon at second base in the eighth. Moose Skowron enjoyed a perfect day with a walk and three singles.

Jim O'Toole, a 2-0 loser to Ford in an opening day duel of southpaws, again trailed 2-0 when he left for a pinch hitter in the fifth. It was his second defeat and Ford's ninth series victory, extending his own record.

Yankees Sixth

Jim Brosnan went in to pitch for Cincinnati. Lopez was called out on strikes. Howard doubled to deep right center on Brosnan's first pitch. Berra was purposely passed. Skowron beat a slow roller down the third base line for a hit, filling the bases. Boyer doubled off the left field wall. Howard and Berra scoring and Skowron stopping at third. Ford grounded out, Colman unassisted and Skowron was trapped off third and put out by Colman, again unassisted. Colman raced over from first base and stood on the foul line as Skowron feinted back and forth, and Colman finally tagged him out. Two runs, three hits, one left, no errors.

In loving remembrance of my dear husband, Ernest Herman Browning, who departed this life 1 year ago today, October 9, 1960.

Dear Husband: The call.

A bitter grief, a shock severe,

But you are not forgotten,

Though on earth you are no more.

Still in memory you are with me.

As you always were before.

The second dose of Sabin oral polio vaccine will be given at 16 dispensing centers Friday and Saturday from 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. School pupils will get it at their schools on Thursday.

Work at the centers will be speeded up if everyone goes to the same dispensing center he went to for the first dose in June. Those who went to Cumberland City Hall in June should go to the Algonquin Hotel for the second dose. Those who went to Frostburg Fire Hall should go to Beall Elementary School if they can. If not, they can get the vaccine at any center.

Second Snow Removal Plan Being Readied

Another snow removal ordinance is being prepared for consideration of the Mayor and Council, it was learned yesterday.

City Hall sources said the proposed ordinance is not so restrictive as the one tabled by the Mayor and Council Monday. It provided that no vehicle could remain parked on any street whenever snow reached a depth of two inches.

The new proposal is somewhat similar to an ordinance which was up for consideration last year.

It is understood to ban parking of vehicles on major streets designated as snow emergency routes which will get priority in snow removal operations.

The streets, it was reported, are generally the main traffic arteries, bus routes, routes to schools and hospitals and to major business establishments.

About 34 streets are included in the proposal, which also provides penalties for vehicles getting stuck on ice and snow on the designated routes unless they are equipped with chains or tires with snow treads.

W. Md. Credit Unions Plan Anniversary Celebration

Credit Unions of Western Maryland will hold their fourth annual celebration, marking the 12th anniversary of the founding of the credit union movement, with a dance and entertainment October 14 at 8 p.m. in the National Guard Armory, Brown Avenue.

October 19 is set aside as Credit Union Day since it is the anniversary date of the founding of the first credit union by Frederick Wilhelm Raiffeisen, mayor of a small town in Germany, who conceived the idea to combat poverty and usury.

James E. Mellon, an employee of the B&O Employees' Federal Credit Union, is chairman of the Credit Union Day Celebration committee. He is also treasurer of the Western Maryland Chapter of Credit Unions. Mr. Mellon said the Aristocrats will furnish music for the dancing, and refreshments will be served. There will also be a program of entertainment, featuring Barry Thomas, Baltimore, a ventriloquist and comedian. A number of prizes will be given.

All members of the 15 credit unions here are welcome at the celebration Saturday night, he said.

In Western Maryland there are now 15 credit unions, with 13,000 members. The Western Maryland chapter is headed by Clyde E. O'Baker, who is also treasurer of the Kel-Co Credit Union and vice president of the Maryland Credit Union League. The chapter here was formed, Mr. O'Baker said, to assist various credit unions with their common problems and with their mutual problems.

Western Maryland has three with assets exceeding one million dollars each. These are the B&O Employees' Federal Credit Union, Local 678 Federal Credit Union representing employees of the Luke mill of West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, and Kel-Co Federal Credit Union, representing employees of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company.

Mr. O'Baker said last night there are 27,500 credit unions all over the world, through 68 credit union leagues, and all will participate in some way in the anniversary observance.

All members of the 15 credit unions here are welcome at the celebration Saturday night, he said.

Miss Florence Hooper, world traveler and former treasurer for the Woman's Division of Christian Service (Foreign Division), will speak at the Park Place Methodist Church Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

Miss Hooper will give a resume of the Latin American course she taught at the Methodist School of Missions, Western Maryland College.

A meeting of the Worker's Council, which consists of all the Sunday school officers and teachers, was conducted Tuesday in the church social room. Plans and activities were discussed.

All the Woman's Societies of the church in the Cumberland and surrounding areas are welcome to attend. Refreshments will be served.

Zoning Rule Hearing Due Tuesday Night

Planning Group Favors Passage

A public hearing for the purpose of a discussion of the enactment of an interim zoning ordinance for Allegany County will be conducted by the Board of County Commissioners at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow in the commissioners' regular meeting room on the second floor of the Court House.

The first public hearing on the proposed zoning ordinance was held by the County Planning and Zoning Commission on July 27. After that hearing a few relatively minor amendments, principally involving mobile homes, were approved by the Planning and Zoning Commission.

At its meeting August 24, the planning and zoning group endorsed the amended interim zoning ordinance and recommended its adoption by the county commissioners.

"That leaves no room for doubt about the effectiveness of the Sabin oral vaccine," a spokesman for the medical society said yesterday. "But everyone should keep on taking his Salk shots too, because all three types of Sabin vaccine haven't been given yet."

The second dose of Sabin vaccine will be given this week. School children will get it at school on Thursday, and others will take it Friday and Saturday at 16 dispensing centers in the county. A third dose is planned after the first of the year, and a "makeup" first dose will be given next spring for those who missed the first dose in June.

Volunteers Still Needed For Oral Vaccine Program

Volunteer lay workers are still needed for the second Sabin oral polio vaccine program this week, the Allegany-Garrett County Medical Society announced last night.

Each lay workers will be asked to handle clerical tasks at the public and parochial schools Thursday morning, or at the public dispensing centers Friday or Saturday.

Volunteers should call their neighborhood PTA presidents or the heads of the various other organizations that are helping to recruit workers.

A briefing session for the heads of these recruiting organizations will be conducted by the medical society tonight at 9 o'clock at the nurses home of Memorial Hospital. Only the president or other representative of each organization need attend.

You'll save time and effort if you clip this form from the newspaper, fill it in and use it when you get your second dose of Sabin oral polio vaccine this week. Ignore the bottom line of the form. If you need more than one second-dose form, you can get them at your drugstore.

If you didn't take the first dose of oral vaccine in June, don't use this form, but get the appropriate card and release form at your drugstore.

It will save things up if you go to the same dispensing center you went to in June. But you don't have to do so. You can get the vaccine at any center.

Awards To Be Presented For Safety Check Program

Outstanding contributions to safety will be recognized at a dinner meeting tomorrow at 7 p.m. at the Fort Cumberland Hotel.

Tributes will be paid to Cumberland Chapter 377, Safe-Teen; Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, the Cumberland Optimist Club, and the cities of Cumberland and Westport.

The local Safe-Teens won the 1961 "Circle of Safety" award for conducting one of the outstanding teen-age-sponsored safety check programs in the United States. Only five other teen-age groups in the nation won the award.

Cumberland and Westport and the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company won the 1961 "Certificate of Achievement" for their contributions to the safety check program.

Frank Lowrey, assistant managing director of Auto Industries Highway Safety Committee, Inc., will present the Safe-Teen award to Cumberland Chapter 377, Safe-Teen; Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, the Cumberland Optimist Club, and the cities of Cumberland and Westport.

This is the first reserve unit from Cumberland or Allegany County called into active duty for the present cold war emergency. Capt. Thomas B. Cumiskey Jr., 418 Holland Street, is commander of the local company which has a strength of 15 men and one officer. Capt. Cumiskey, who also is assistant postmaster here, said only three members of the company are employed in the local Post Office, and that certain personnel adjustments are being made there by Postmaster Thomas E. Conlon Jr. to take care of business while these men are on military leave.

The unit is to report to Fort George G. Meade for a program of accelerated training before being assigned to an Army Post Office. An advance party of three men will leave today to make arrangements for the arrival of the entire unit, Capt. Cumiskey said.

The 19-page zoning ordinance, as finally drafted September 8, includes 22 sections and an appendix. This interim zoning ordinance, if approved by the county commissioners, will not be in effect more than 30 months.

By the end of that period, a comprehensive land use plan for the county is expected to be available from Ladias Sego and Associates, the planning consultants for the county.

Much of the discussion by the planning and zoning commission before submitting its recommendation to the county commissioners involved Section 9, which pertains to mobile homes in residence districts.

As ultimately revised by the Planning and Zoning Commission, any mobile home in a residence district will be required to have a driveway or a paved area in front of the mobile home.

Officers installed are Carl Smith, Sunday school superintendent; Harold Everline, division superintendent; Edward Jenkins, division superintendent; Mrs. Harvey Troutman, superintendent of the junior division, and Mrs. Joyce Bruner, her assistant; Edward Jenkins, treasurer; Mrs. Roy Miller, secretary; Mrs. Cleo Flora, assistant secretary; Mrs. Alice Walker, librarian; Lawrence Griffith, pianist; Mrs. Walter Schack, assistant pianist; and Mrs. Harvey Troutman, in charge of the cradle roll.

Committee members are Mrs. Leora Berkley, Mrs. Arnold Ballard, Miss Irene Lapp, library committee; and Miss Cheryl Flora, publicity committee chair.

Those installed as teachers are Mrs. Jean Brottemarkle, Bonnie Dicken, nursery; Mrs. William Hersh, Miss Judy Hersh, Miss Cheryl Flora, kindergarten; Mrs. Roy Wratchford, Miss Joyce Reynolds, primary; Mrs. Henry Pyles, Mrs. Florence Stein, junior girls; Mrs. Harold Everline, junior boys; Mrs. Mary Margaret Dormio, Mrs. Thelma McElwee, junior high girls; Edward Cline, Mrs. Mabel Miller, junior high boys; Allen Steiner, Rev. Carl Clapp, senior high; John Hafer, Harvey Troutman, Young Peoples' Class; Mrs. Arnold Ballard, William Kauffman, Young Adults; Mrs. Carl Clapp, Mrs. Jennie Kauffman, Skyles Memorial Bible Class; Miss Lillian Lapp, Mrs. Leora Berkley, Ladies' Bible Class; and Rev. Carl Clapp and John Willets, Men's Bible Class.

Western Maryland has three with assets exceeding one million dollars each. These are the B&O Employees' Federal Credit Union, Local 678 Federal Credit Union representing employees of the Luke mill of West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, and Kel-Co Federal Credit Union, representing employees of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company.

All the Woman's Societies of the church in the Cumberland and surrounding areas are welcome to attend. Refreshments will be served.

Over 10 recipes will be featured on each of the four program days, Miss McKellin being responsible for the back-stage preparation of purchasing and assembling ingredients and utensils, seeing that all needed equipment is close at hand, preparing the food trays for each recipe and garnishing each dish for eye-appeal on the "Star Time" portion of the program. Her perfect timing keeps the show running on a smooth course.
